Come and support veterans wrestling with profound questions about the morality of the wars they have fought. Listen as they tell the truth of their experiences of war and hear military chaplains, religious leaders, and legal experts discuss the issues of moral and religious conscience facing our nation's service members.

Testifiers include recent veterans Tyler Boudreau, Joshua Casteel, Jacob Diliberto, Logan Laituri, and Camilo Mejia, as well as national experts like PTSD expert Dr. Jonathan Shay and journalist Chris Hedges. The Commission's Chair is Rev. Dr. Kaia Stern of Harvard Law School and the Commission's Honorary Host is Rev. Herman Keizer, retired Army Chaplain (COL) and former chair of the National Conference on Ministry to the Armed Forces. See www.ConscienceInWar.org for a complete list of Testifiers, Commissioners, and Co-sponsors.

On behalf of the Commission's nearly 50 organizational sponsors and co-sponsors, we invite you to join us for the March 21 Public Hearing! Together we will launch a major nationwide conversation about freedom of conscience for members of our nation's armed forces. We owe this to our service members and their families, to our faith communities, and to our nation.
